

Hatchet a book by Gary Paulson.

Imagine being in a two seater Cessna, bush plane and after a divorce you are flying to your fathers house when out of nowhere your pilot has a heart attack and you crash into a lake! That is what happens in a book called hatchet.

After the crash Brian is left with nothing but a hatchet and a concussion. For about three days Brian can finally think straight now he is trying to make/find a shelter. After about one full day Brian finally found a ridge that he could weave vines and sticks together to make a door and a good shelter.

After about three days after finding shelter Brian has made a spear and bow to catch fish and eat them. Now Brian is trying to hunt foolbirds and he noticed that he had been looking at their color not their shape, and after noticing their shoe is the shape of a pair now that Brian is looking for the Shape he can see that they are everywhere now a takes his bow aims at the bird and shot the arrow at the bird and killed it. Now he has food.

That night after the first kill of a fool bird, Brian hears a train like sound then thinks "O MY GOSH" then he feels a strong wind, and looks out side and sees a tornado and it pulls off the walls the he made of his ridge and takes his weapons all gone, all sucked into the tornado.
